

REPORT FROM 1ST PROJECT MEETING IN TEROR, GRAN CANARIA, SPAIN

WEDNESDAY 18th DECEMBER 2019

On Wednesday we went on a trip with students and teachers to explore the island. Around 8 a.m. we all met in front of the school. We got on the bus and drove south from the north of the island for some time before the bus stopped and we were able to go on a beautiful walk through the sand dunes in an area called Maspalomas.

First we all took a photo of the whole team in front of the amazing view of the sand dunes and the ocean. Then we walked across the dunes to the coast. There were two groups of people on the way through the dunes - those who walked normally on the path and those who ran in the sand dunes, jumped in the sand and rolled down the hills and so on... Most of the students also took off their shoes and let their feet being massaged by small sticks and stones in the sand.

After some time we turned onto the beach and headed towards the ocean. The beach was called Playa de Inglés. The sea air there was very pleasant, there was a light breeze and the ocean was waving. We had a snack and went swimming. The ocean was quite cold, so most people only got their feet wet, but there were some students who swam in the water so long that they got cold. But the Canarias sun quickly warmed them up.

REPORT FROM 1ST PROJECT MEETING IN TEROR, GRAN CANARIA, SPAIN

WEDNESDAY 18th DECEMBER 2019

We sunbathed on the beach and enjoyed the warm weather for a while and then slowly made our way to the lighthouse and around the nature reserve back to the bus. We walked past all sorts of stalls, so most of us bought ice cream or something else to eat. We also remembered to take pictures by the beach with the lava rocks. We also walked past the sand dunes so we could enjoy the view of the beauty one last time. Finally, we got on the bus and enjoyed all the experiences of the morning.

In the afternoon we went to the opposite side of Gran Canaria, to the mountains. We drove for quite a long time, about an hour and a half, but finally we arrived at the target place. The air here was completely different, fresh and mountainous, it is hard to say if it was more pleasant to breathe by the ocean or here in the mountains, but we know that both are very pleasant and healthy.

We walked around for a while before we reached our destination. It was really beautiful; we enjoyed a beautiful view of the city. There were rivers of clouds all around us and it gave a very pleasant impression. After some time walking around and enjoying the views, we had to make our way back. The evening was already in the spirit of relaxation and rest. We enjoyed the whole day very much and it was an unforgettable experience for us.
